Mission

The mission of George T. Baker Aviation Technical College is to provide training to persons interested in aviation maintenance, electronics, and avionics to become an integral part of industry. To accomplish this mission, the school must enhance the curriculum, utilize industry resources, encourage students to obtain their Federal Aviation Administration certificates or Federal Communications Commission license, and place students in jobs that are related to their training. The academic and technical expectations established by the instructional staff and the strong educational leadership provided by the principal make it possible for the school to accomplish this mission.

Vision

The vision for George T. Baker Aviation Technical College is to provide occupational training to persons interested in aviation maintenance, electronics, and avionics; and for all students to become program completers, possess an Airframe and Powerplant certificate or a Federal Communications Commission license, obtain employment upon completion of a program, and become technologically proficient.

Core Values

The staff and community at George T. Baker Aviation Technical College firmly believe that all students are capable of learning. We, therefore, are committed to developing each student's academic, social, physical, ethical, and emotional potential in a safe and nurturing environment, thereby creating lifelong learners and productive citizens prepared to enter a global workforce. The staff and community at George T. Baker Aviation Technical College are dedicated to creating a school climate that is safe and provides the most modern instructional materials. The staff and community at George T. Baker Aviation Technical College are dedicated to creating a positive, cooperative working relationship between the administration, faculty, staff, parents, and the community who will work together in support of a program of excellence for all our students.

Scope and Availability

Orientation

Within the first three weeks of each school year, a Media Center orientation is conducted for students and teachers. A PowerPoint presentation gives an overview of the media center's rules and materials available. Procedures for utilizing the computer network are also covered.

During their first year of aviation mechanics study, students are orientated to specific computer software by the media specialist. Cooperative planning of lessons between the media specialist and the teachers allows pertinent software to be incorporated into the student's education during specific blocks of training. The media specialist assists with the setting-up of the computer system used to operate the NIDA system in Avionics. He offers support for instructors when needed.

Facilities

The media center is an 1,850 square-foot facility that can comfortably seat 68 students. The main space is divided into three areas of use. The computer section contains 30 workstations. The second area contains tables and chairs that comfortably hold 30 students. A third small study area provides 8 computer stations for students. Three small adjacent rooms provide storage and office space for the media center.

Budget

The principal is responsible for providing an annual media services budget. The media specialist prepares an annual budget proposal to assist the principal in making responsible funding decisions.

The media center is adequately funded to meet the needs of students. A major emphasis has been placed on upgrading the technology resources, reading collection, and audio-visual materials. Funding sources include the school's internal funds, annual allocation from the District, and special grants.

Evaluation of Media Services

The media center staff strives to offer quality services and resources. To meet this goal, improvements and evaluation procedures are continuously being developed and implemented. The media center places special emphasis on upgrading the services and resources available to students and staff. The environment is conducive to research and learning. An exit evaluation is taken by students completing a program of study to assess the media center services. The results of the evaluations are then used to improve the scope of the media center.

Inventory

The media center staff conducts an annual inventory of media resources. A physical check is conducted at the end of the school year, at which time records are updated and reconciled. The Annual Media Center Statistics and Inventory Report provide a summary of media activity for the school year and are submitted to the Library Media Services Department of Miami-Dade County Public School.

The collection inventory utilizes the Follett Circulation computer software system to maintain an inventory of books, films, videos, and software. An equipment inventory is available for all equipment exceeding $1,000 in value. This inventory is coordinated through the administrative office.

Equipment Repair

Audio-visual and computer equipment repair is coordinated through the Media Specialist. Repairs that cannot be made on-site are processed through the M-DCPS Maintenance Department using the Maintenance Support Request Form or sent to an outside vendor.
